

NORTH RIVER FROM A MASS OF COLOR

East River Piers Bedecked in Bunting, Every Liner in Port Gay with Flags

FOURTH JULY MORNING OPENED COOL

Mercury Recorded 58 Degrees, Lywest Mark for the 4th Since Establishment of Weather Bureau—It is Estimated that 300,000 Persons were Afloat on New York Harbor Waters Yesterday—First Victim of the Fourth

New York, July 4.—When the first of a chilly dawn began to filter through the forest of skyscrapers at the lower end of Manhattan Island this morning, the East River was a mass of color. The department ran up the biggest flag in the city to the top of a new pole in Battery Park, made out of the single stick of the old cup defender. Commemorative, and it was officially Independence Day. The mercury at 7 this morning registered 58 degrees, the lowest mark for the Fourth of July recorded since the weather bureau was established here in 1871.

The City Bedecked.

At full daylight it was seen that the entire front of the North river was bright in bunting, flags and streamers. The East river was bedecked and almost every liner in port and all the holiday craft were dressed from stem to stern with signal flags.

200,000 Excursionists.

Wetted by two small rains yesterday at downtown piers and the heavy pressure of traffic and all outgoing passenger lines that local traffic managers have been had to contend with. Collector Loeb and the federal department of steamboat inspection took special precautions today, and tonight, not a single accident from overcrowding was reported. But swarms and swarms were black with humanity.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION AT PARIS POSTPONED

On Account of the Sudden Death of Rutherford Stuyvesant.

Paris, July 4.—Rutherford Stuyvesant, brother of Mrs. Henry White, wife of the American ambassador, died suddenly this afternoon. He went for his customary morning walk in the Champs Elysees, but was overcome and assisted to a restaurant. He was just able to give his name and address when he fainted and was conveyed to his residence in a state of collapse. Physicians who were hastily summoned reported that he was suffering from an acute attack of angina pectoris and that his case was hopeless. He gradually sank and died within a few hours.

In consequence of the death, the Fourth of July celebration which was to have been held at the American embassy tomorrow has been postponed. Rutherford Stuyvesant was 69 years of age. He had spent a large portion of his time abroad during late years. He was a director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and was a member of many clubs and societies. He graduated from Columbia college in the class of '61.

Mr. Stuyvesant and the Countess De Warrenner were married at St. George's chapel, London, on June 16, 1902.

UNUSUAL AUTO ACCIDENTS SUNDAY ON LONG ISLAND.

One Young Woman Instantly Killed—Another a Mass of Flames.

New York, July 4.—One young woman was instantly killed and another seriously injured in two unusual automobile accidents on Long Island today.

Miss Gladys Young, employed as a governess at Glen Cove, L. I., in the family of Fred B. Pratt, Jr., president of the Pratt Institute, was pinned beneath the overturned body of a small electric runabout and her neck was broken. In entering the gateway to the Pratt grounds, she was struck by the car, which was being driven by a man who had been drinking. The car rolled over and caught fire. The automobile was destroyed.

THE FOURTH IN BOSTON.

Crowds and Din of the Old Time "Night Before" Were Absent.

Boston, July 5.—The Sunday evening quiet was hardly broken when the Fourth of July holiday at midnight, so responsive were the youth to the restoration of the old-time "night before" and the hoodlums and din were absent.

Offered Himself as Target to Prove a Theory.

New York, July 4.—So certain was Andrew Herli that a 22 calibre rifle would not carry 200 yards that he offered himself as a target for a long time this afternoon. Tonight he is in a Jamaica, L. I. hospital with a 22 calibre bullet in the outer wall of his heart, dying. The bullet while riding on top of a freight car, he was well dressed and there were several dollars in his pockets and a memorandum book from a hotel in Ansonia.

Killed by Overhead Bridge.

Biberach, Germany, July 4.—The dirigible balloon Zeppelin II, which started on her first voyage from Metz on Monday, but has been detained near here for the past five days, resumed its voyage about midnight.

Paris, July 4.—France has declined to recognize Benjamin Franklin as the inventor of the lightning rod, claiming that that honor belongs to a French physician, named Jacques de Romas, who, in 1750, two years before Franklin, announced a means of diverting lightning.

Blockhouse Fort of Revolution Days. Early in the day Dr. C. L. Moros said to be the only living son in New York of a soldier of the revolution, led a little band of patriots to the blockhouse fort of Washington's days. Dressed in full Continental, with the blue cockade and military hat of a century ago, to doctor looked his part of captain of the Continental Guard, and wore his 87 years like a man of 60.

First Victim of Toy Pistol.

The first case of death by toy pistol was recorded tonight, and although the holiday celebration does not begin until tomorrow, the list of minor injuries is growing hourly. Every precaution has been taken by the board of health to deal with the long list of casualties that always follow a Fourth. Last year the record stood: Seven dead, 253 seriously injured, hundreds more hurt, of whom ten ultimately lost their eyesight. Twelve distributors of antitoxin have been appointed and all the hospitals have laid in extra supplies. The first victim was a 10-year-old Italian boy on the East Side, who shot himself in the hand with a toy pistol.

WILL SHORTLY REPORT A BILL TO THE HOUSE.

Public Utilities Special Committee's Work Nearly Finished—Little Likelihood of the Bill Passing Assembly.

Hartford, July 4.—The special committee on public utilities has its work nearly finished and will shortly report a bill to the house. This bill will bear little resemblance to the bill reported by the 1907 commission, but it will have nothing to do with either the chartering of public service corporations or the making of rates. It is expected to contain some of the recommendations of the present railroad commission, and to increase in the membership of the present railroad commission, and to provide that the new commission shall contain all of the present railroad commissioners.

The understanding is that Representative Chandler of Rocky Hill, who was the leader in the insurgent movement in the house when the public utilities bill was up before, has changed his mind somewhat on the proposition, and favors the kind of bill described.

NATIVE SONS SPEAK AT UNION SERVICE.

Large Number Gather to Hear Them at Central Baptist Church.

Sunday evening the Central Baptist church was well filled at a union service including the Second, Broadway and Park Congregational churches, and the First Baptist church, whose pastor, Rev. William T. Thayer, opened the service with the invocation. The story, Psalm XIX, was read by Rev. Clifton K. Flanders, acting pastor of the church in the absence of Rev. P. C. Wright, and Rev. Joseph R. Cobb of the Universalist church announced the hymn. After which prayer was offered by Rev. L. L. West.

With commendable remarks upon the quality of Norwich citizenship and the devotion of the city to the community, Dr. S. H. Howe of Park Congregational church then introduced Rev. George E. Martin of Lowell, the speaker of this city. Representing somewhat upon what the church had been to Norwich, Dr. Martin went on to speak of the duty and responsibility of the church to Norwich at the present day, which he said he would focus in one sentence: "It is the duty of the church to be sovereign in the affairs of men."
